Term 2:

This semester, the children have been focusing on broad ideas that span a month period, with different focuses each week. This term, the children have been focusing on the broad ideas of Emotions (small focuses being gratitude, negative emotions, empathy and selflessness) and Continents (small focuses being Europe, Africa, South and North America, and Europe). Programming in this format allows the children to delve deeper into broad topics. These program categories are based around the children's interests, strengths and potential learning opportunities.

Our program encourages the children to participate in our daily programmed activity but also encourages the children to take part in free choice play.

The children have thrived off of learning about different cultures and expressing their emotions through activities. With a range of hands-on crafts that are guided by the educators, the children were able to gain knowledge on different country traditions, learn better methods of expressing themselves and build strong relationships with their peers and educators.

Outdoor freeplay has been very varied this term due to the up and down weather. When we aren't enjoying freeplay in the gym, the majority of the children have been practicing their football and soccer skills on the oval due to school sport events they have to practice for, while the rest have been playing a mixture of the red rover, floor is lava and the colour game on the playground.

We look forward to all of the fun and learning that Term 3 holds!
